To PETER TIMOTHY, Esquire.

Publisher of the SOUTH-CAROLINA GAZETTE.

SIR,

THE day after my return to Charles-Town, I read in your Gazette dated 20th June 1768, No. 1707, a scrap of intelligence, in which the public are inform'd,—that the Ship ANN, George Forten master, loaden and bound for Bristol, partly owned by me, had been seized by George Roupell, Esq; and was libelled in the court of Vice-Admiralty, for an omission of a bond for Non-enumerated commodities laden on board the said ship.

As an intimation, in such general terms, of a fact of so much consequence to my character as a merchant, as well as to my interest, may leave many of your readers in doubt, whether such omission of a bond for Non-enumerated goods, was owing to ignorance or inattention, or to what would be much worse than either, caprice or perverseness in me; neither of which, I dare say, you meant to insinuate—Permit me to give you a brief and true state of the case of the said ship ANN,—and I shall rely upon your candour to publish the same, together with this introduction, in your next Gazette.

THE CASE.

"The Ship ANN, arrived at Charles-Town from Bristol, on the 24th May, consigned to Henry Laurens, who had previously made provision for loading her with goods commonly called Enumerated articles, and no other.—She was entered inwards according to law.—Mr. Laurens enquired of the master, George Forten, if he had given a plantation bond in England, he replied, with some doubt, in the affirmative; therefore Mr. Laurens desired him to bring him the certificate of having given such bond, if he had one, in order to lodge the same in the proper office, to qualify the ship to load a parcel of Pitch, which then lay ready upon the wharf: But upon examination, the master could find no such certificate—Mr. Laurens therefore enjoined him, not to take in a barrel of said Pitch, until he had given a bond at the Naval-Office, and obtained a permit to load from the Custom-House, and for that purpose went, with the said Capt. Forten, to the Naval-Office, where they (the master and merchant) executed the proper bond, and received a certificate thereof from the Naval-Officer; with which certificate they both went to the Custom-House, but it being rather an early hour, the office was not open.—Mr. Laurens then dismissed Capt. Forten to his ship, promising to deliver the Naval-Officer's certificate at the Custom-House, and to give him (the captain) notice when he might begin to take on board the said Pitch, repeating his injunction to take nothing in, before he received such notice.—About an hour after that time, Mr. Laurens sent a young gentleman, one of his clerks, to the Custom-House, with the said permit, who returned and said, he had delivered the certificate to Mr. Morris, the Comptroller, in presence of Mr. Hatley, Deputy-Collector, and Mr. Coats, one of the Searchers, and asked if the ship might now load—that Mr. Morris replied, "'tis "very well, you may load away as fast as you please."—Mr. Laurens immediately sent a message to Captain Forten, desiring him to begin to load.—Captain Forten, in two or three days, came to Mr. Laurens, informed him, that some person had offered him a pipe of Wine upon freight, and desired to know what freight he should ask for carrying it to Bristol.—Mr. Laurens answered, that it was a troublesome article, intimating the stowage, as well as the needful entries to be made of Wine, and advised him to excuse himself from taking it, if he could conveniently do so, and Mr. Laurens heard no more of that matter.

The said Ship ANN, being partly loaded, Mr Laurens wrote to his partners, owners of $\frac{1}{4}$ths of the vessel, in Bristol and Philadelphia, in the following terms—to wit—

"When the ANN arrived here, I was just on the point of "embarking for Georgia, partly on account of my health, "and partly to see the improvements upon a plantation of "mine, in the river Alatamaha,—and had then a prospect of "being at home some days before the ship could be ready for "sea, but the time is too far spent;—the wind, which has "been long unfavourable, is now fair, and I must go, or "suffer very much in my interest. I have so laid out matters, "that yours will, in no degree, be injured by my absence:— "Mr. John Hopton, my clerk, can, under the direction "that I shall leave him, very well compleat the loading, and "clear out the vessel, and also transmit the invoice.

"As I have been very attentive to the general interest of "our ship, I beg you will not be under any apprehension of "mismanagement, on account of my absence: If I was not "well assured, that no evil consequences to the affairs of my "friends will arise from thence, I would, notwithstanding "any inconvenience to myself, remain at home.—The "cargo that I intend for the ANN, is 108 barrels Pitch—to "accept of all the Skins and Indico that shall be offered upon "freight, and N. B. to fill up with Rice."

☞ Every one Enumerated Articles.

And then he, Mr. Laurens, embarked for his said plantation in the river Alatamaha, but previous thereto, had called one of his clerks, and said, "I am in doubt, "whether Deer Skins is one of the enumerated or non-enumerated articles; if the latter, although I do not think it "absolutely necessary to give bond for such, when bond has "been previously given for enumerated goods, yet to cut off "all plausible or possible pretence for seizure or stoppage of "the ship, I would, in this case, give a bond for non-enumerated goods."

☞ Please to observe here, by the way, that this very ship ANN, was cleared out last year with non-enumerated goods on board, and that no other bond was given, but one for enumerated articles;—that divers other vessels have been, since that time, cleared out in like circumstances, in the same manner.—Also, that Mr. Hatley has signed an agreement, for the regulation of his fees with the merchants, in which it is expressly declared, that a non-enumerated bond is not required, when bond is given for enumerated goods, either in Britain or here in this province.—And lastly, that the very bond required for non-enumerated goods implies, that such goods were shipped previous to executing the bond, viz. "And whereas the above bound A. B.— HATH "LOADEN on board the Ship C. whereof D. E.— is "Master, sundry goods, wares, and merchandizes, "not particularly enumerated in the said recited acts. "AS SPECIFIED ON THE BACK HEREOF, &c."

But upon examination, Mr. Laurens found that Deer-Skins was one of the enumerated articles, and therefore concluded that no other bond than what he had before signed, could possibly be required.

On the 17th June, he received the following intelligence at Alatamaha, by express, from his clerk the said John Hopton.

Charles Town, South-Carolina, 19th June, 1768.

DEAR SIR,

"On the 17th instant, I attended at the Custom House, to "clear out the ANN, with Captain Forten, where only the "Collector and Mr. Coats, one of the Searchers, were present.— "The Collector perused the Manifest, and said, it contained "several articles of non-enumerated goods, for which, he was "sure, no bond had been given; I answered, that I would "sign a bond, if he pleased,—he said I was too young, but "might procure some other person of full age:—I waited "upon Mr. Head, who went with us (meaning Captain Forten and himself) "to the Custom-House, and Mr. Head offered to sign any bond that was necessary, as surety for the "Master.—The Collector replied, that it was too late, the "Ship was seized."

N. B.—"However, added the Collector, if you will wait "for Mr. Coats's return, I shall be more fully informed of "what has been done in the matter.—Mr. Coats presently "came in, and said, Mr. Roupell had just told him, that he "had seized the ANN."

Mr. Laurens was on the point of returning when he received the above account, and he arrived in Charles-Town the 4th instant, found George Roupell, Esq; had actually seized the said Ship, and libelled her in the Court of Vice-Admiralty, together with one pipe Wine—one quarter-cask Wine—1 barrel Pink-Root—1 quarter-cask Rum—1420 Horns—said to be Non-enumerated articles, shipped on board the said vessel by divers persons, without the knowledge of Mr. Laurens, or of any one in his house; for which the Collector was sure no bond had been given.

The cause is now depending in that Court, and will, probably be determined by the Decree of the JUDGE, before your next paper comes abroad.

SIR,

The above is a true state of the case. I do not know one fact or one circumstance set forth therein, that admits of the least doubt.—Your readers will judge how far I am to blame, and how far I have any right to expect the commiseration and aid of my fellow-subjects; and how far their own estates may be endangered, from the success of this extraordinary attack upon me.——

I am, Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,
HENRY LAURENS.

Charles-Town, July 6th, 1768.

CHARLES-TOWN, JULY 11.

THE Schooner Robert & Jenny, belonging to Capt. Robert Orr, of Beaufort, Port-Royal, in this province, which was run away with on the 26th of April laſt, by John Dunn, Thomas Bradley, and James Bird, with about 600 buſhels of corn, &c. on board, arrived at York in Virginia the 9th of May following. Bradley and Bird there ſwore that Dunn ran away with the veſſel; and Dunn himſelf (who has alſo gone by the name of Price) confeſſed it, but afterwards abſconded, yet not before he had ſold two Negro Men that were on board, the property of the above named Robert Orr. James Ambler, Eſq; collector at York, has advertiſed theſe circumſtances in the Virginia Papers, deſiring that ſpeedy application may be made for recovery of ſaid veſſel, before the worms eat her bottom out.

By Capt. Doran from St. Auguſtine, we are informed, that ANDREW TURNBULL, Eſq; Secretary of Eaſt-Florida, was ſafe arrived there with three Brigantines and a Snow, having on board about 700 Spaniards, Italians, and a few Greeks, from Majorca, Yvica, Minorca, Smyrna, &c. all in good health; who intend to ſettle in Eaſt-Florida, and have brought over with them almoſt every ſpecies of the produce of the countries up the Mediterranean, in order to cultivate them in this new world. Mr. Turnbull having engaged between 14 and 1500 of theſe people to come over, they ſailed together from Minorca the 31ſt of March laſt, in eight veſſels, but parted off Madera. Beſides thoſe mentioned above, arrived at St. Auguſtine, one veſſel had got into Muſquito Harbour; two had put into Tybee; and the 8th, the Charming Betſey, Captain Gideon Duncan, put into Cape-Fear laſt Monday, from whence ſhe was to ſail again on Thurſday.

The Right Hon. Lord Charles Greville Montagu, Governor in Chief &c. of this province, with his lady, was ſafely landed at Philadelphia, in ten days after he left this place, much recovered in his health. The Fowey man of war, which carried him, returned here Saturday.

The people in the back parts of this province, who have aſſumed the name of REGULATORS, by the accounts we daily receive, are far from being inactive; but the reports of their proceedings are ſo various and contradictory, that it is almoſt impoſſible to diſcover which of them can be relied on: 'Tis however certain, that ſome of them do not pay that regard to the civil authority which prudence ſhould dictate, and is neceſſary to reſtore peace and good order throughout the province.

The Creeks have lately put one of their own nation to death, they pretend by way of ſatisfaction for the murders on St. Mary's River: But it ſeems to be a diſpute, whether they, in this, paid moſt regard to the demand of his Excellency Governor Grant, or the applications of his Majeſty's Superintendant &c.

The running of the boundary line between the Virginians and the hunting-grounds of the Cherokee Indians, we hear, is to take place in the fall.

Letters from London adviſe, that the Rev. Mr. George Whitefield may be expected in Georgia in October next.

Brigadier General Taylor and his lady embarked at St. Auguſtine the 3d inſtant, in the Brigt. Grant, Capt. Scott, for New-York, on their way to England.

Laſt Tueſday embarked in the Sloop Sally, Capt. Schermerhorn, who ſailed the ſame day,—Mr. John Chapman, Mr. John Corrie, Mr. James Myine, Merchants; Lieut. Handaſyde, Mr. Arthur Stewart, Mr. James Miles, Mr. Daniel Bourdeaux, with ſeveral other paſſengers, for New-York.

As did the ſame day, Mr. William Price, Merchant, in the ſhip Barbados-Packet, for Barbados.

Laſt Friday a Brigantine from St. Auguſtine (one of Mr. Turnbull's fleet) was ſpoke with, going to Cape-Fear.

Laſt Wedneſday returned from St. Auguſtine, with Capt. Doran, Mr. Samuel Hopkins.

The next day ſailed for New-York, the ſloop Harlequin, with Lieutenant Thomas and Mrs. Thomas on board.

"Laſt month was married here, Mr. James McKenzie, to "Mrs. Anne Imer, relict of the Rev. Mr. Abraham Imer.

The price of RICE, the ſame as laſt week. The quantity exported to this day is 110,661 barrels.

CHARLES-TOWN, JULY 11.

HIS Majesty's High Court of Vice-Admiralty for this province, was again adjourned last week, from Tuesday to Thursday; when the trial of the Ship Ann, George Forten master, (seized on the 17th past, by George Roupell, Esq; one of the Searchers of the Customs, for having taken non-enumerated goods on board BEFORE the bond required by the act of the 6th of his present Majesty's reign was given) came on; the merits were fully discussed, attentively and patiently heard; and this important cause was concluded: And on Saturday morning the Hon. EGERTON LEIGH, Esq; sole Judge of the said court, was pleased to decree Restitution of the said Ship, &c. to the claimant on behalf of the owners; each party to pay his own costs. Every court held upon this cause of great expectation was remarkably crowded, and the equitable decree of the Judge seems to have given general satisfaction. —— For the better information of the public, we have obtained a copy of the latter part of the decree in this cause, which runs in the following words, viz.

"THEREFORE I, the said Egerton Leigh, sole Judge of the said Court of Vice-Admiralty, having fully heard the said parties, who, by their proctors and advocates lawfully admitted, before me appeared in judgment; and having carefully, diligently and judicially searched into, considered and examined the arguments and proofs of all parties before me had and done in the premises; and having observed, and impartially remarked, all and singular the matters and things that, by law, in this behalf ought to be observed, according to the manner, stile and usage of this Court; upon mature consideration of this case, am of opinion, THAT, on the most obvious and natural construction of the statute made in the 6th year of his present Majesty's reign (whereon the present prosecution is founded) bond ought to be given, as the act directs, before any ship or vessel shall lade or take on board any goods not-enumerated in the acts therein recited, altho' such bond may have been previously given for enumerated goods laden on board the said vessel, pursuant to the statute made in the 12th year of the reign of King Charles the 2d:—That it appears to me, by the proofs and exhibits in this cause, that the practice of the Customs, since the making the first mentioned act, has been various, fluctuating and uncertain; that the Merchants have been at one time told, by the Custom-House Officers, that bond must be given before the lading such goods on board, and, at another day, that it might be done at the time of clearing out; that such uncertain conduct in the officers may (if allowed and permitted) work the most dangerous effects, as they, by such occasional and partial dispensings with, or relaxations of, the laws, may have it in their power to draw unwary persons into snares, and involve the most innocent in ruin. FORASMUCH ALSO, as the Claimant's manifest contains the very non enumerated goods informed against, as well as those for which bond had been given, it clearly contradicts every suspicion of fraud or design: That the Claimant, by his conduct, discovered the most ready inclination to comply with the terms required of him by the officers of the Customs; and the evidence affords me some violent presumption, that matters were so artfully conducted, that the Claimant was not able to conform thereto, before an actual seizure was made for a non compliance with the terms required; which circumstance induces a strong suspicion, that there was more of design and surprize, on the part of some officers, than of any intention to commit a fraud, on the part of the Claimant: That the bond itself, which the Prosecutor contends is necessary to be given, contains a recital repugnant to the act, and, if not void for that reason, as it is merely in the recital part, is at least ridiculous and absurd: That the regulation of the person who is the only part-owner of the vessel on this side of the water, stands so clear from suspicion of any undue practice, in his commercial concerns, that the Prosecutor has not even attempted to insinuate the least circumstance to his disadvantage. That innocent owners therefore may not be trepan'd, by an indulgence almost universally extended by the Officers of the Customs to all other cases, and only withdrawn in this for some private and inexplicable reason; I do therefore, upon the general equity of the Claimant's case, and for the reasons above mentioned, order, adjudge, sentence and decree RESTITUTION of the said Ship Ann, her tackle, furniture and apparel, and the non enumerated goods on board, to the said Claimant on behalf of the owners; and that the Marshal of this court be served with an order to re-deliver the same accordingly. And I do adjudge, that each party pay his own costs of the suit: and be the Claimant hence dismissed without day."

ISAAC HUGER.

BOSTON, May 23.

IN Capt. Calef, from London, are come passengers Cotton Lorings and the Rev. Mr. Samson Occum, an Indian teacher, who lately went from hence for England with the Rev. Mr. Whitaker, to solicit contributions from charitably disposed persons there, to support the Indian school at Lebanon, and for propagating the gospel among the American heathens; and it is said, have so far succeeded as to collect about 12,000l. sterling, which is deposited in the hands of trustees, to be appropriated to that pious use.

At a general election at Hartford, the same governor, deputy Governor, and assistants, were chosen as last year, the Honourable William Pitkin, Esq; Governor, had 5933 votes. Honourable Jonathan Trumble, Esq; deputy Governor, 3333 votes.

New-York, May 30. By letters from London, we learn, that the ministry, and the Nabobs, have, in general, lost all their elections throughout England; that Sir James Lowther alone had expended to less than 125 000l. at different elections, and with great difficulty only carried two.

On Monday last his Excellency the Governor set out, attended by several gentlemen of this province, for Albany, in his way to the Mohawk country, in order to settle some provincial disputes which have subsisted for some time with the Indian nations, and to forward the running out the general boundary line, agreeable to his Majesty's orders to Sir William Johnson, Bart. for that purpose.

A few days ago arrived in town from Pittsburgh, JOHN ALLEN, and JOSEPH SHIPPEN, jun, Esqrs. commissioners from this province at the conferences lately held there with the Western Indians, under the direction of GEORGE CROGHAN, Esq; Deputy agent for Indian affairs. At this meeting were present upwards of one thousand Indians, besides about three hundred women and children, consisting of six nations (chiefly Senecas) Shawanese, Delawares, Munsies, Mohickons, and Wyondots. After the commissioners had condoled with the Indians in behalf of this government, on account of their late as well as former losses, buried the bones of all their deceased friends, and conveyed their graves with presents of condolance, according to the Indian custom; they in like manner, went through the same ceremonies of burying the bones of such of his Majesty's subjects as have been killed by their people since the peace. In the answers they returned to the speeches delivered to them, they expressed the utmost satisfaction in meeting the commissioners from the government of Pennsylvania, and having an opportunity of renewing the peace and friendship, which formerly subsisted between them and the people of this province. The several tribes having been earnestly desired to open their minds fully, by disclosing every thing which gave them the least discontent or uneasiness; they publicly acknowledged that their hearts were now made easy, with respect to the several losses they had sustained, and that they entirely buried in oblivion all past misfortunes, so that their children might never remember them hereafter.—— They then acquainted the commissioners, that the only matter which they had still reason to complain of was, the settlements made on their lands. But before the conferences ended, during which the Indians behaved in the most orderly and friendly manner, they were made so fully sensible that the government had taken every step to remove those lawless people, who had settled on their lands, and to apprehend and bring to justice the villains Stump and Ironcutter, that they expressed great satisfaction at our public conduct ——They afterwards according to their custom, cleared and made smooth the road of peace, so as to be travelled by all people with pleasure and safety, brightened and strengthened the ancient chain of friendship, and engaged, in the most hearty manner, to unite with their brethren the English, in holding it fast for ever, and to live with them in the strictest harmony for the future.

At the conclusion of the treaty the commissioners delivered considerable presents of goods to the several tribes, in behalf of the province of Pennsylvania; to which Mr. CROGHAN made an addition on the part of the Crown. The whole ended, to the entire satisfaction of all the Indians, who parted with the commissioners in so friendly a disposition, as promises to us the fairest prospect of a lasting peace.

Seven companies of the 18th or Royal Irish regiment, marched for Fort Pitt this morning.
